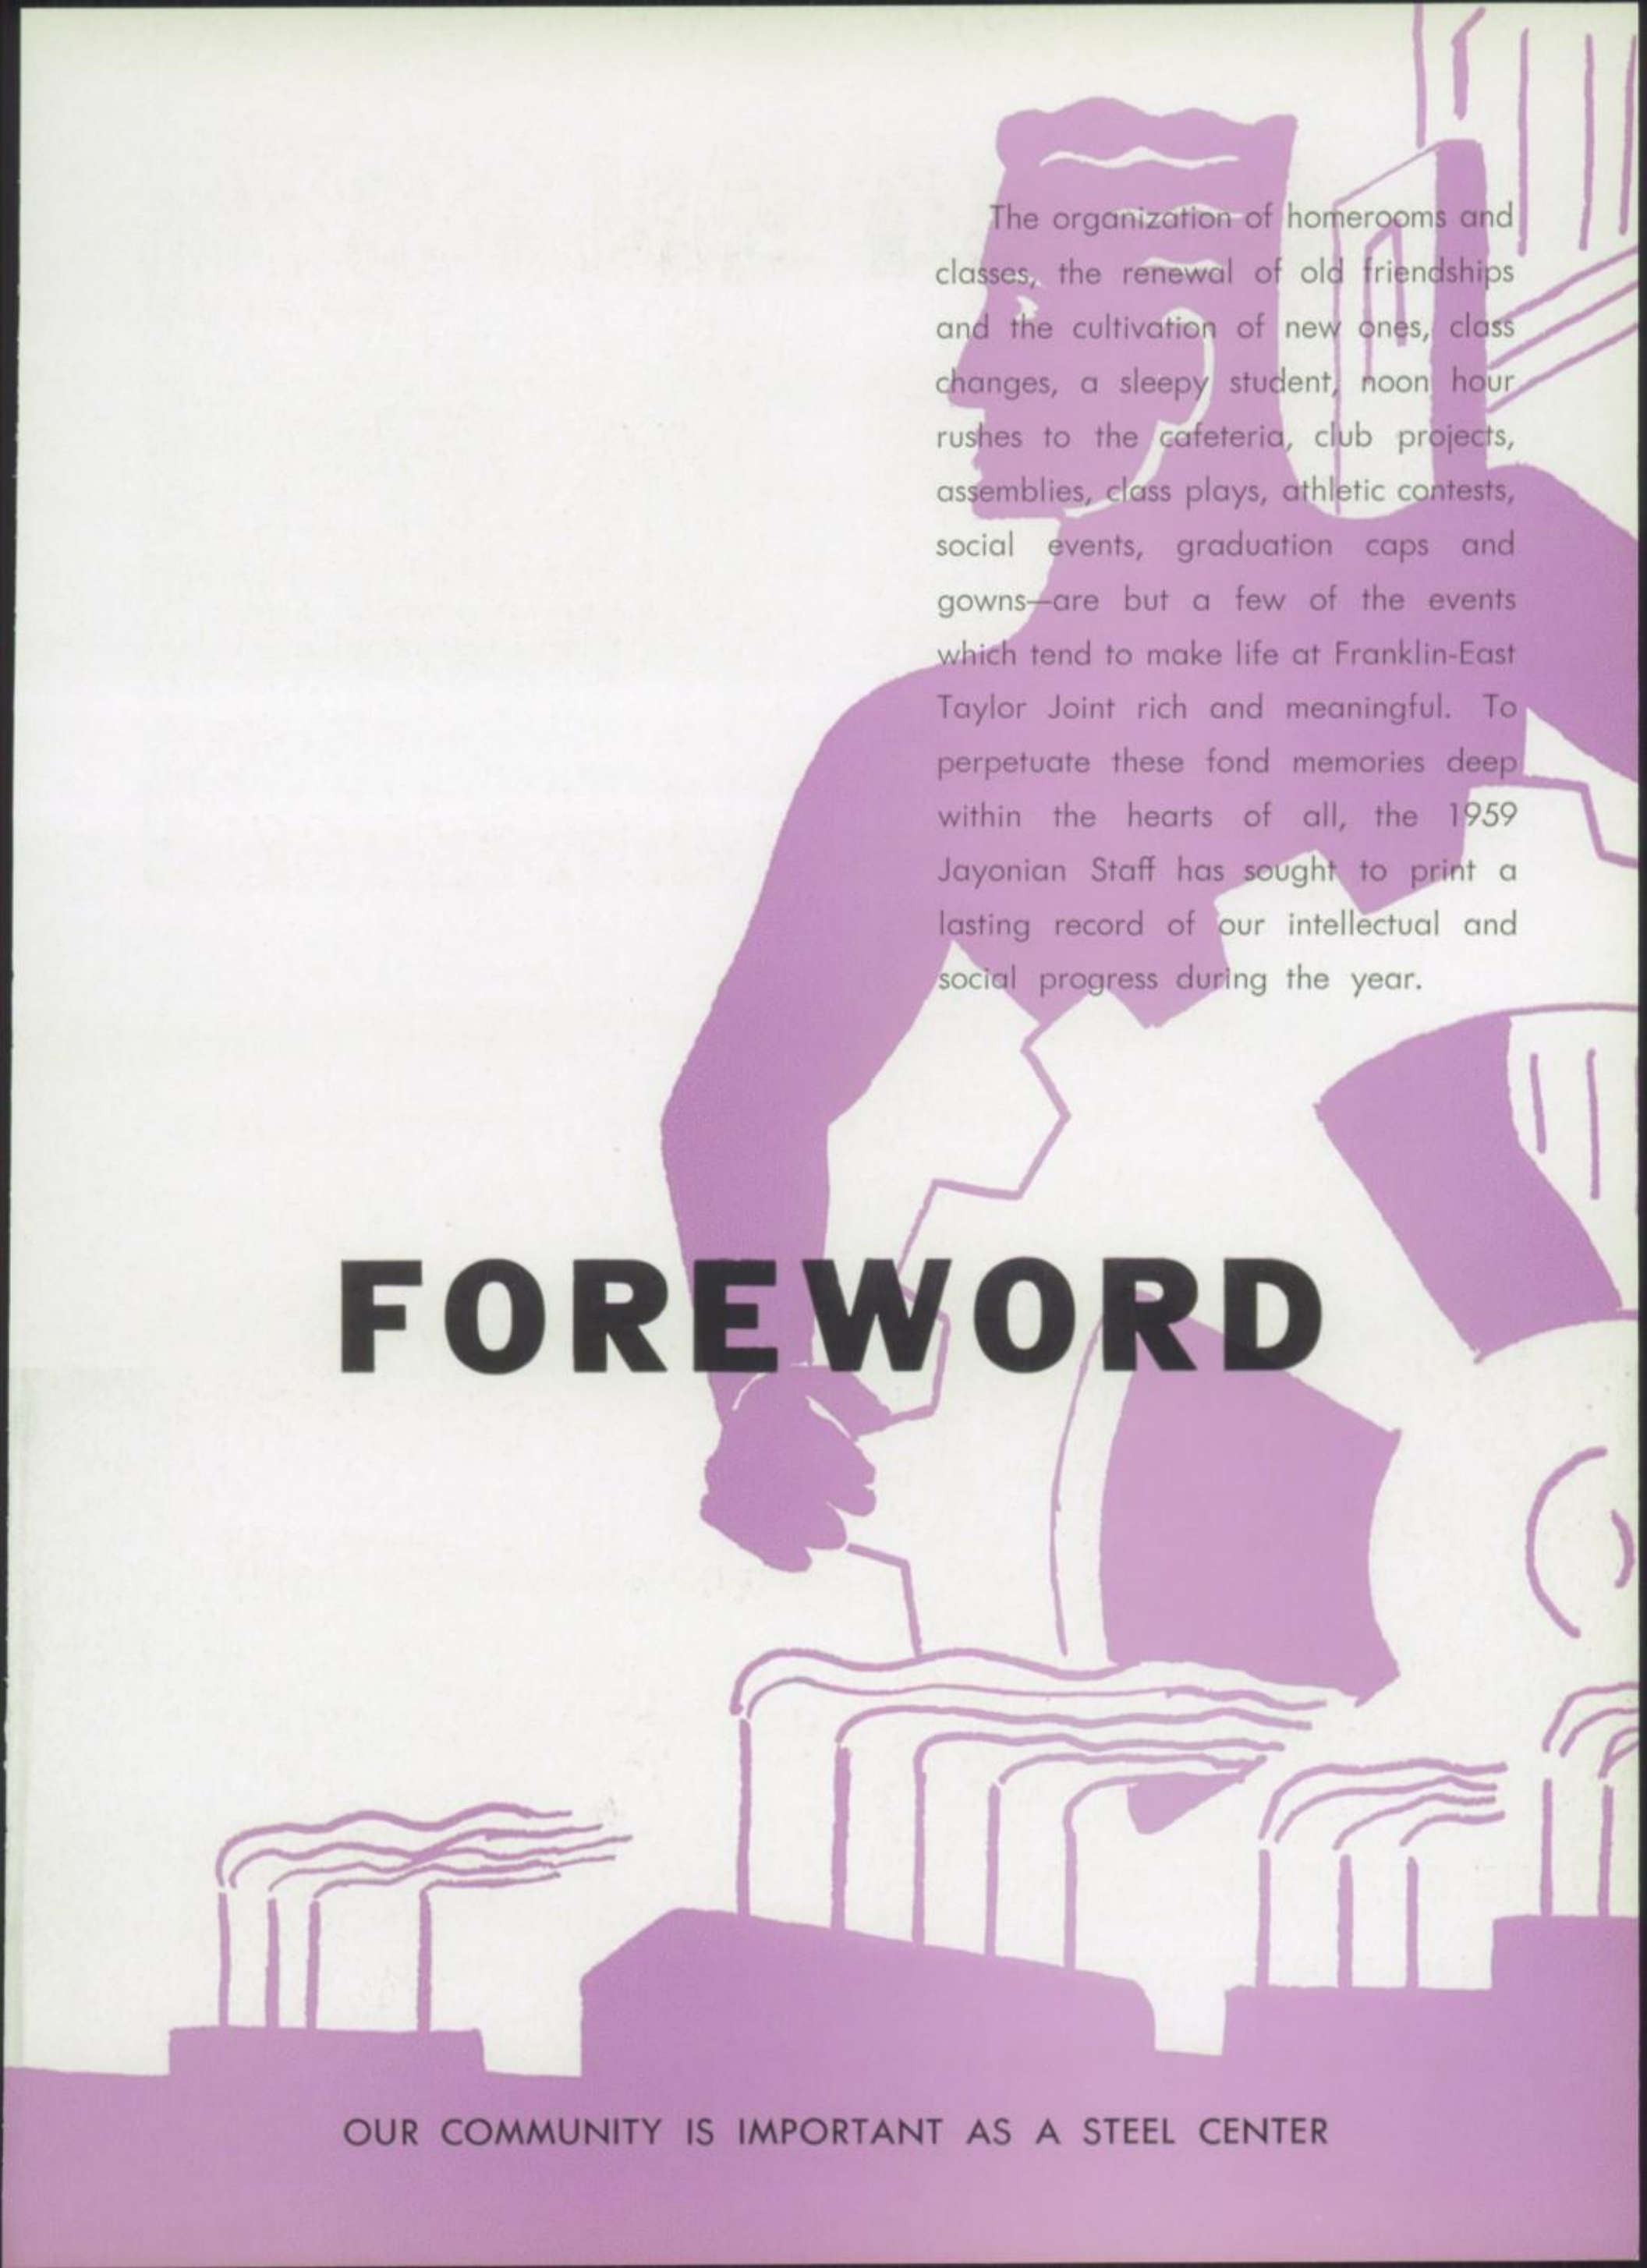
A ROUND-UP OF THE YEAR'S EVENTS NEEDED LEADERS

Co-editors-in-chief Madelyn and Barbara Jo give a helping hand to Managing Editors JoAnn and Margaret.



The organization of homerooms and classes, the renewal of old friendships and the cultivation of new ones, class changes, a sleepy student, noon hour rushes to the cafeteria, club projects, assemblies, class plays, athletic contests, social events, graduation caps and gowns—are but a few of the events which tend to make life at Franklin-East Taylor Joint rich and meaningful. To perpetuate these fond memories deep within the hearts of all, the 1959 Jayonian Staff has sought to print a lasting record of our intellectual and social progress during the year.

Board of Education

Progress and achievement in learning are gained through the cooperative efforts of responsible individuals who represent the school and the community. Many and varied are the duties of a Board of Education. These citizens make innumerable sacrifices to provide suitable and safe educational plants. They establish school policies and direct the purchase of the equipment so essential to a high standard of learning. Finally they select capable and efficient teachers to direct classroom activities.

The Class of 1959 and the Staff of the Jayonian take great pleasure in presenting on this page those public-spirited citizens who comprise the Board of Education of Franklin-East Taylor Township Joint High School. We wish to express our sincere gratitude to these directors and to the administrators and the teachers for the opportunity to enter the world fully equipped to cope with everyday problems of life. May they continue their good work in furthering educational progress.

CAPABLE LEADERS DIRECT OUR SCHOOL'S CURRICULA

Since becoming supervising principal in 1928, Dr. H. C. Tilley has displayed a broad progressive educational tendency. His persistent effort to organize a larger system will be rewarded with the beginning of the fall term. He has contributed much toward the high scholastic curricula of the school.

MR. D. G. SEESE
HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Mr. D. G. Seese became our high school principal in 1930. He is confronted daily with the pertinent problems of finance and discipline. His interest in youth and his wealth of experience have been valuable assets in assuring each student the type of education for which he is best suited.

School business is big business and the maintenance of records is important to the graduates of a school. Likewise the filing of reports with the state plays a vital role in the accumulation of statistics. These require the employment of efficient secretaries.

Senior Class History

1959 . . . We are now graduates. Along the paths of education we had many experiences—some good, others bad. Bear with us as we retrace our footsteps.

We recall the beginning of our senior year. Due to new state laws, our school days were extended and many noon-hour activities were abolished. Funds for senior socials were gained through sponsorship of a magazine campaign and a skating party. Many pleasant hours were spent in preparation for our class play. It was a huge success. Jayonian funds were raised by Christmas and Easter candy sales. The Juniors held a memorable prom at the Johnstown VFW. Our senior banquet at the Green Gables Barn offered an evening with a rustic touch and the sparkle of formal attire. The Class Day program was followed by commencement exercises and the end of school days for many.

One step backwards and we were Juniors. Highlights of the year included the sale of pom-poms, a skating party, the selection of rings, our class play, and the Junior-Senior prom. The gym was beautifully decorated in harmony with the theme, "Fairyland and Romance."

Glancing back to the fall of 1956, as a group of enthusiastic Sophomores, we played important roles in the activities of the music department. A skating party and a wiener roast added a social touch.

Three steps into the past and we were green freshmen. How large the school looked, especially to the East Taylor students! We were assigned to rooms 116 and 118 with Miss Galbraith and Mr. Strippy as sponsors. We soon fell in step with the upper classmen.

We walked, ran, skipped, and jumped through four years at Franklin High. We certainly will never forget those days. As our footsteps move into the future, no matter where they may lead us, "Dear Franklin High School, we abide with you."

OUR FOUR YEARS LEAVE MANY PLEASANT MEMORIES

George, Jean, Edward, and Gertrude enter the auditorium for a class meeting.

Juniors

Full of enthusiasm, seventy-seven energetic Juniors entered their third year at Franklin with the avowed intention of being heard in all fields of activity.

Members of the class played important roles in all athletic contests; even the girls chipped in by participating as cheerleaders or band members.

The class treasury grew steadily as the students sponsored a skating party, a magazine campaign, and several bake sales. "Headin' for a Weddin," a hilarious comedy, played to a full house in April.

For the first time in many years, the prom was held outside the school. The low lights of the ballroom in the Johnstown VFW and the soothing music of the orchestra combined with the romantic theme, "Moonlight and Roses," to assure all who attended many pleasant memories.

The selection of class rings gave the committee quite a thrill, which was only overshadowed by that of the day when they were actually received.

With these undertakings satisfactorily completed, the juniors, guided by Mr. Salem, have shown the strength and prominence needed for a sturdy foundation as seniors.

Late August marked the return of an ambitious group of Sophomores. Under the leadership of Mr. Moran they elected a capable group of officers. Plans for the year's activities were quickly made and committees were appointed.

The sale of sweat shirts and beanies added a tidy sum to the class treasury.

Many of the group found places on the athletic teams; others, who were musically inclined, joined the band or the choruses. The remainder gave their support by attending games and by participating in club activities.

The class sponsored a skating party at Skateland after an enjoyable Christmas vacation. The event was a financial success.

February's social activities included a Valentine party. Dancing and games featured the entertainment. A delightful luncheon concluded the evening's program.

The class lent a hand to the Juniors by serving as hostesses and ushers at the prom.

The end of the school term came quickly and the majority are anxiously looking forward to next August when they will return as Juniors.

The biggest moment of their young lives came to those students who had successfully met the requirement of the eighth grade and who enrolled as "green" Freshmen the first day of the 1958-1959 school term.

The boys cast anxious eyes over the football schedule, each carrying in his heart the hope that he might become a part of a victorious eleven. The girls, on the other hand, eagerly answered the call for candidates for the cheerleading squad.

After weeks of apparent confusion, the students settled down to become an inseparable part of Franklin High. New faces soon proved to be friends; new subjects became sources of fascinating knowledge.

A skating party was the only source of revenue for the class. The parties and dances were of special interest.

Class plays, assembly programs, and movies were intriguing to these newcomers. Each activity seemed to arouse greater confidence and greater interest in school life. Just as "Great oaks from little acorns grow," so these "green" freshies should add greatly to the future strength of the school.

The ringing of the school bell is always a warning that winter is around the corner. However to the Eighth Graders it was a warning that they faced a busy year in preparation for the all-important county examinations. In spite of this, the students also carried thoughts of athletics and parties. Many had had a taste of bench-warming, but now hoped for regular berths on the junior high football and basketball teams. Fourteen realized their ambitions.

This is the age at which students enter seriously into social activities. The annual Halloween party highlighted the fall events. It was supported by this group. The gym was beautifully decorated for the occasion and set the mood for a fun-filled evening. Games and dancing featured the entertainment program. All students were in costume and many prizes were awarded during the grand march. Several were won by this group. A bigger and better party is already being planned for next year.

These and other activities inspired the students to greater scholastic effort, and they sent the county tests down to bitter defeat.

Entrance into junior high school always provides a thrill and a feeling of "having grown up" to those who have successfully completed grade school. The class of 1964 underwent the same experience. The necessity of moving from room to room in a far more spacious building frightened these youngsters. Complex schedules and new courses of study challenged their skills. However, like eager beavers, they faced their many new problems and within a month they had faller. in line with the upper-classmen.

Athletics, parties, clubs, and class meetings aroused the curiosity of these newcomers. They held a skating party in April at Skateland. This was the only effort of the group to build up a treasury. All worked hard, a fine turnout resulted, and a large sum of money was realized.

The class actively supported the Junior class play and the Spring Music Festival. The day for final examinations finally arrived and many look forward to renewing friendships in September when they return as Eighth Graders.

The Y-TEENS are striving to create a common bond among teenagers all over the world. The organization exists in 69 countries, each aiming for the same goal—a better world with peace and happiness.

All local members proudly display their club's emblem. The group aided the Key Club in conducting a very successful Junior Red Cross campaign. Social events included the annual tea party for teachers and the clubs' Y-Teen dinner.

The treasury was aided by the sale of refreshments at football games.

Twenty three new members were added to the club's roster and the formal initiation exercises were marked by a very impressive candle light service.

Baskets of food were distributed to the needy at Christmas.

Year in and year out, students constantly search for the right book to read, whether it be comedy, mystery, or classic.

There is something on the TAB CLUB list for every member's reading taste—just the right book for everyone's reading doldrums.

The club offers all books at very reasonable prices—25 or 35 cents. Free dividends are also offered twice during the year, one free book awarded for every four books purchased.

The Junior and Senior TAB Clubs have over 200 members, each of whom receives a monthly TAB news which lists the books recommended by a professional group of critics. All orders are handled solely by student secretaries.

A shipment of books has arrived and is being checked by Florence, Leslie, and Catherine.

A FEW WIN RECOGNITION FOR MERITORIOUS DEEDS

The aim of the KEY CLUB is to develop initiative and leadership among its members. All efforts are directed toward serving the school and the community rather than toward personal gain.

Under the direction of Mr. Medler and the leadership of president Milan Gjurich Jr., the club showed much progress. Through the whole-hearted cooperation of the student body, the members successfully conducted the Junior Red Cross campaign. The club members operated the school store at noon and during basketball games.

The locals competed in the tournament sponsored by Pittsburgh Junior College in Johnstown. Although laurels were few, all members had a good time.

SAFETY IS IMPORTANT

IN ANY CHILD'S LIFE

Patrol

The SCHOOL BOY SAFETY PATROL is made up of a group of junior high school boys under the supervision of Mr. Moran. They have been faithful to the many duties that make up their job of maintaining safety.

Their protection has been of special value to the younger students at street crossings. In the morning, at noon, and at dismissal, these boys have stood at their designated posts, regardless of rain or shine.

The group have extended their efforts toward instructing the student body in the laws of safety. Their loyalty and trustworthiness have been rewarded by the fact that no accidents have occurred in the vicinity of the school.

Automobile drivers, parents, and pupils owe them courtesy and respect for their many sacrifices.

The heads of staff, Madelyn, JoAnn, Margaret, and Barbara discuss plans for the 1959 Jayonian with the advisors, Mr. Hite and Mr. Salem.

Jayonian

The completion of this 1959 edition of the Jayonian has brought many sighs of relief from the lips of those responsible for its publication. Sound financial backing, picture schedules and literary deadlines were three major issues which faced the staff, headed by Madelyn Krzysko and Barbara Zimmer. The services of Jo Ann Kuzak and Margaret Bosser proved invaluable as managing editors.

The literary editors spent many hours in writing, re-writing and proof-reading. Kathleen Smerzlich deserves special mention for her efforts. The staff of typists, with Francine Yanko in charge, was very cooperative. The business managers and the finance committee proved capable as leaders in the campaigns for funds.

The editing of the book and the fund-raising campaigns were directed by Mr. Hite and Mr. Salem.

WE HIGHLIGHT WORDS WITH PICTORIAL COVERAGE

CONGRATULATIONS

The staff of the 1959 Jayonian finds great pleasure in announcing to its readers the fact that the 1958 edition met the same high standards as the three preceding issues and again captured MEDALIST HONORS at Columbia University.

We extend congratulations to all who have played important roles in its production, and we sincerely hope that our 1959 edition will again bring honors to Franklin-East Taylor Joint High School.

The choral department of the Franklin-East Taylor Schools participated in various sections of the Spring Concert. The SACRED CHOIR was selected from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls. This group opened the program for the event. Many opportunities for vocal solos, duets, and various mixed vocal groups were presented. Once again the GIRLS' ENSEMBLE was a highlight of the concert. Member's of the BOYS' CHORUS also participated in the Spring Concert. Several vocal solos were rendered by boys. Then the entire boys' chorus joined the orchestra in selections from the Broadway musical, South Pacific.

Vocalist Ann Marie was featured with the Dixieland Band.

MUSIC ADDS A PLEASING TOUCH TO ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

Many newcomers blended with the more experienced players to produce an outstanding ORCHESTRA. Although not too active throughout the year, the orchestra presented selections from "South Pacific" in the Spring Concert. Individual members of the orchestra were also placed in smaller instrumental groups for the 1959 musical. The Dixieland Band, Polka Band, and the Rock and Roll Band gave these students a chance to play different types of music. The addition of two members from the Conemaugh Band—Raymond Guyan and Robert Novitsky—gave our orchestra a fine brass section.

Standing—Rolish, Kmetz, Zimmer, Michnya, Jackson.
Kneeling—Smerzlich, Schofield.

The Franklin-East Taylor Township Marching Band participated at all the football games of the season. Each half-time period found the band presenting a new selection with drills and dances by the two majorette corps. Barbara Jo Zimmer served as head drum major, assisted by Gwen Hagerich and Sharon Berkich. The band also participated in the Veterans Day services.

In the Spring Concert the junior band presented a salute to the Armed Forces as their part of the program. The senior band handled the final two scenes of the musical.

Many seniors gain a souvenir of Prom Night by visiting the photographer.

Originality marked this entry in the grand march at the Halloween Party.

A satchel of bones provides detective James the satisfaction of a job well done.

Patricia is overcome by fear in "There's Always a Murder," but finds comfort in the arms of Robert.

JoAnn has an idea—she wan to put fish in the fireplace.

Dramatics

SENIOR PLAY

The house lights dimmed, the murmur of the crowd ceased, and the curtains opened. It was the occasion of the senior class play and many were making their last appearance in dramatics. The untiring efforts of the cast, plus the cooperation of all those who helped, especially that of our directors, Mr. Hite and Mr. Salem, involved many hours of rehearsal.

As the curtain closed, the heartwarming applause which echoed throughout the auditorium confirmed the success of, "There's Always A Murder."

James and Joseph accidently discover the murder weapon.

The villain, John, overpowers the hero of the day, Robert.

Barbara Jo finds amusement in the problems of Joy and Eileen.

MUCH TALENT IS FOUND IN THESPIAN EFFORTS

JUNIOR PLAY

As Juniors, the present graduating class presented a 3-act comedy, "Grandma's Best Years."

Tryouts found many newcomers in dramatics answering the call. The choices of the directors, Mr. Hite and Mr. Salem, must have been in accord with the crowd as evidenced by the terrific applause at the end of the production. The venture was financially successful.

Joan and James insist that JoAnn leaves.

Grandma JoAnn is overpowered by the family—Francine, Marge, and John.

Julia is not accustomed to the snobbish airs of Joy, James, and Kathleen.

Lois and Patricia check the records for some real hot numbers.

Rodney finds it nice to be wanted by Barbara Jo.

Robert and Milan display little interest in modern art.

The coaching staff took on a "new look" last fall as efforts were made to distribute the duties over a greater number of instructors. Milan Gjurich remained in charge of the football program and Milan Buchan took over the reins as basketball mentor. Michael Margetan donned his baseball shoes and guided the diamond sport. John Dean became faculty manager.

A group of thirty-five husky lads began football training at Juniata College in mid-August. Seven regulars returned from the 1957 squad and prospects of a winning season loomed bright until injuries began to plague the Gjurich-coached team in early October. A 12-6 verdict over neighboring Conemaugh was a cherished win and a fitting climax to a long series of bitterly fought contests.

FOOTBALL

DANIEL BUCZEK was an aggressive guard, fast and alert on leading interference. At tackle, LYNN CRAMER was a thorn in the side of all opposition. The diminutive halfback, LARRY GILLIN, was a deceptive speed merchant. CAPTAIN MILAN GJURICH proved himself adept in calling the right play at the right time. RODNEY GOUGHNOUR showed versatility by substituting for the injured in any backfield position. A terror on the defense, tackle RONALD GUNNY stopped the opposition for many losses. At left halfback, HAVARD JACKSON gained much valuable yardage around the ends. MICHAEL KALINYAK always hustled and his fine blocking as a guard greatly aided the Blue Jays cause. Right halfback EDWIN KOSTORA, the team's long distance runner, was high scorer for the season. REED MARDIS, hard-smashing fullback, was sidelined most of the time due to injuries. Husky guard, JAMES MARKLEY, found pleasure in breaking up the interference for opposing backs. Lanky end, PATRICK MORIARITY, was the target for many of the Blue Jay passes. DONALD PAVINA was used as a defensive halfback against the passes of the opposition.

BASKETBALL

JOHN FRANKO displayed speed and accuracy in passing at a forward position. Guard HAVARD JACKSON, an expert ball-handler, was the key man in the Blue Jay offense.

THE HEART IS WILLING BUT THE HEIGHT IS SHORT

The above caption aptly describes the Blue Jay floor squad of 1958-59. Coach Milan Buchan faced the task of building an entirely new squad to meet a rugged varsity schedule. Sylvester Holmes, stellar Junior center, was the lone returnee from last season's team. The only experience of the other candidates was gained as members of the Junior Varsity or Junior High quintettes. Edward Oparnico, 6'1", was the tallest man on the squad and played a forward position. Stephen Uzelac and James Porcher alternated as his running mate. "Springy" Julius Caesar Porcher, 5'10" center, controlled the tip-off against tremendous odds. He proved invaluable on rebounds. Guards Holmes and Havard Jackson were the key men on the Blue Jay offense and also were the heavy point-getters for the team. John Franko served as a capable replacement at either forward or guard.

A combination of rainy days, infrequent sunshine, a wealth of experience, and a few newcomers accompanied the assignment of baseball to Coach Michael Margetan. The playing of course is up to the boys themselves, but hopes for a winning season in 1959 run high among the Blue Jay supporters.

INTRAMURALS

The INTRAMURAL SPORTS program in Franklin-East Taylor is limited to basketball for both boys and girls.

The BOYS were organized under the supervision of Mr. Buchan. Games were played each Wednesday evening, with members of the varsity team serving as officials. Rivalry was keen and the Franklin area team finally emerged as champions.

Play for the GIRLS was directed by Mrs. Morgan. The Monday evening contests were spirited and many resulted in close decisions. The Ninth Graders copped the laurels for the season.

ORGANIZED SUPPORT INSPIRES A TEAM TO VICTORY

Simmons, Moriarity, Gjurich and Kalinyak gain the applause of both cheerleaders and fans as they return for the second half of the Conemaugh-Franklin game.

The student body plays an important role in the athletic activities of a school. Their cheers and words of encouragement prove an inspiration to the boys who participate. Organization is important and the CHEERLEADERS spend many weary hours in practice sessions in order to achieve perfection in their maneuvers.

Five members of the 1958-1959 squad are seniors. They include: Margaret Bosser, Sally Galayda, Patricia LaCorte, Francine Yanko, and Patricia Ziner. All have served four years. They will be replaced by members of the Junior High squad. Miss Thomas is sponsor of the group.
